Autobiography

My name is Ihor. I'm 31 years old. I live in Ukraine in a small town with my family. It is not big, just father, mother, an elder brother and me. My father works as truck driver, my mom is a housewife. I'm not married. My height is 183 cm, my weight is 85 kg.

In my childhood I was fond of sports. I spent a lot of time studying English. Also I devoted a lot of my time to helping my parents with household. We always had some domestic animals at home such as pigs and a cow. I helped with feeding, watering, cleaning and making hay for winter.

After school I worked as a loader in the supermarket, then I served in the Armed Forces of Ukraine from 2006 till 2008. After coming back home I continued working as a loader but some time later I decided to change my life and try myself in farming.

From April 2011 till July 2012 I worked at a dairy farm in Denmark. My duties were connected with milking, feeding, mixing food, cleaning of milking equipment, cleaning and disinfecting of stables, driving a tractor.

After coming back to Ukraine I was unemployed for some time because it was difficult to find a well-paid job at the farm. The level of agriculture was low in Ukraine. That is why I went to Poland and found a job there. I worked as a loader in the store.

But in 2017 I entered the Vocational Agrarian Lyceum, the faculty of veterinary and stockbreeding. There I had some practice. But I wanted to develop my skills more and decided to find the internship abroad.

From October 2018 to October 2019 I worked as a trainee in Norway on the dairy farm. I am very satisfied with this experience, because I dealt with more modern approach to farming and got new skills and knowledge. My duties included milking, feeding, cleaning of milking equipment and so on.

I can speak English, Russian and Polish. My native language is Ukrainian. I have a driving license and drive a car and a tractor. I have such hobbies as playing football, travelling, listening to music.

Now I am looking for a job in Finland. I want to realize myself in dairy farming. But I need a lot of experience, including experience in Finland, because I know that Finnish farmers use advanced methods of farming and of course I would like to learn from them. I would like to work on dairy farm.

Regads,

Ihor
