Autobiography

My name is Valentyn. I was born in 1992. I have a big friendly family. My mom Tania is an accountant, my father Valera is a truck driver. My sister Lera is a student of a musical high school. I'm not married.

I studied at secondary school. At school my favorite subjects were mathematics, biology and physics. My family has a small household. We keep rabbits, chickens. I always help my parents take care of them. I feed animals, clean the boxes, also I make hay for winter for the rabbits.

After finishing school I started working at the Metso stone crushing plant by a fitter. Then I served in the National Guard of Ukraine. There I assisted a paramedic. I also got a very good experience in terms of discipline and teamwork.

In 2017 I decided to start studying. I wanted to get to know how to treat animals. That's why I entered the Vocational Agrarian Lyceum, the faculty of veterinary and stockbreeding. During my first year of study I got a good practice at a livestock farm. I helped real specialists. I was taught to feed, to clean and disinfect the stables, to give injections.

But I understood that if I wanted to become a good specialist I needed to develop constantly. I started looking for the internship abroad and found it in Denmark. I worked as a trainee at pig-breeding farm. I had such duties as daily care and observation of pigs, feeding, vaccinating, giving medication, moving the animals and so on.

I speak English well and Russian perfectly. As for my hobbies I really love watching sports events. Every Thursday I play football with my friends. I love going to the cinema.

Now I'm looking for a job in Norway or Finland. I would like both to apply my skills on practice and get acquainted with the approach of farming of these countries to breeding pigs. Moreover, I want to learn more about life style of Scandinavian people.

Regards,

Valentyn.
