Autobiography

My name is Olha. I'm 24 years old. I was born in Protopopivka village. I have a small but friendly family that consists of my mother and younger brother. My mother is a teacher in a local school. I'm not married.

My height is 173 cm, weight is 65 kg.

I grew up in the picturesque countryside to which I got hooked on. From childhood till present time my family has a small farm and the kitchen garden where we grow vegetables and berries. I help there in planting, growing and taking care of the sprouts. But most of all I am dedicated to our livestock shed where our domestic animals live. Some time ago I performed easy responsibilities about our household, including: feeding, watering animals and cleaning stalls. Now, when I have a proper specialization and some experience in veterinary, I am at charge of looking after the animals.

At school I knew exactly that I would become a vet, and after finishing the school I decided to try my hands in the role of vet assistant. I assisted to veterinarian-managers in the animal clinic. I adore the animals, so I was satisfied with my job.

But in 2017 I decided to boost my experience with education. I chose the faculty of veterinary and stockbreeding in the Vocational Agrarian Lyceum which is located in Khmelnytsk region, Ukraine. There we were taught all the necessary subjects connected with veterinary and stockbreeding.

From October 2017 to February 2019 I did practical training on a pig-breeding farm in Sweden. There I had a lot of different jobs: giving medicine, reception of farrowing, making vaccinations, doing castrations, clipping teeth, feeding, moving and selling pigs, cleaning and working around farm. In Sweden I also passed the course and got certificates of passing the theoretical and practical parts of the provision of medicine and castration with local anesthesia. It was a great experience for which I am very grateful.

I have good communication skills in English. Also I speak fluently Ukrainian (my native language) and Russian. I have a driving licence and can drive a car. As for my hobbies I like skiing and baking. I don't drink alcohol or smoke. I am a hard-working, purposeful, non-conflict person.

The work on the farm in Finland I apply for will help me to expand my professional horizons, to learn about Finnish culture, its people and language. It is difficult to predict the future, but I sincerely believe that I will be able to become a good member of your team, and will do all my best.

Regards,

Olha
